

Today's Youth are Tomorrow's Leaders

UNDERSTANDING SERVANT LEADERSHIP

How do we know if we are called to lead?

We are each called to serve in our own unique way by sharing our time, our talent, and our treasure with others. Taking a leadership role means selflessly using your talents to help others to be the best they can be. It means focusing on we and not me. By doing so we open our creative self to new opportunities and ultimately inspire those around us. This process establishes you as a leader and has a ripple effect of creating more leaders.

We need heart centered leaders.

The power of a servant leader is taking action from the heart. The heart is where God lives and moves us to action. If we open our hearts and listen, we will identify the need around us and find the power/purpose of our authentic leadership self while changing lives along the way.

Servant leaders step out of their comfort zone.

Have strength, and trust in God to guide you away from popular opinion or a popular tribe when difficult decisions need to be made. Be a leader that moves with faith, integrity and purpose. Understand your values and have the courage to help others step out, as you have done, to find confidence and meaning in sharing your own gifts and talents.

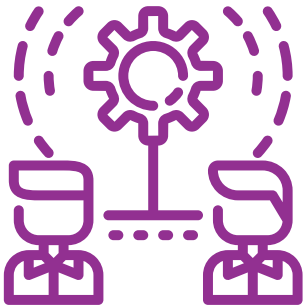

Doing our best with no need to be perfect.

Christ calls us to serve. Is he calling you to lead as well? What does it mean to be a servant leader? We serve by helping others as Jesus taught us to do. Through our example we are walking side-by-side, teaching, training, and sending disciples into the world to be effective, heart centered servant leaders.
